

CARMEN AGREE TO WAIT UNTIL AFTER MARCH 5

Will Delay Discussion of Demands Pending Inauguration.

As was predicted in The Washington Herald yesterday, the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, Local No. 68, made a favorable reply to the appeal of the Washington Railway and Electric Company that the employees show their patriotism and defer a discussion of their demands until after inauguration.

"We assure you and the citizens of Washington, of which we are no small part, that we will do anything humanly possible to accommodate the public, and work in harmony with our employers," a passage of the reply read.

The controversy now rests until after March 5, the present agreement between the employees and the transit companies expiring March 11.

G. W. U. BOYS BASHFUL; GIRLS ARE IN TEARS

Young man, think of the woe and suffering you have caused by leaving your best girl home, crying just something awful, all because you did not take her to see the basketball game.

Her ma wouldn't let her go alone, and you wouldn't take her; hence the sobs. That is the pickle in which the girls find themselves, because for some unknown reason the gallant youth of the George Washington University fail to show any speed, permitting the fair damsels to witness their heroes throw the ball. The girls say this, and it must be so.

FINLAND REACHES PORT; VAN DYKE CANCELS TRIP

Last of United States Passenger Fleet Safe at New York.

New York, Feb. 28.—The American liner Finland, last of the passenger fleet flying the Stars and Stripes, arrived here safely today from Liverpool. She brought a large number of passengers, included among whom was Senator-elect Frederick Hale, of Maine, who has been studying war conditions abroad.

It was reported that Dr. Henry Van Dyke, resigned Minister to The Netherlands, was aboard, but passengers stated that at the last moment he cancelled his sailing and went to Spain to join the party of former Ambassador Gerard, which has taken passage on the Spanish liner Infanta Isabel.

"Peeping Tom" Caught After Scaring Nurses

Baltimore, Feb. 28.—Walter Rouse, 18 years old, of Overlea, and an unidentified companion huddled beneath the windows of the Nurses' Home of Hebrew Hospital. Through partial curtains graceful white-capped figures were to be seen. Overhead a window went up and the "peepers" were discovered.

In a second word flashed through the hospital that two strange men were on the grounds. Henry Mund, telephone operator, and the night watchman cautiously made their way across the lawn. Walter Rouse fell into their clutches, but the other man escaped.

BORDER BOYS ARE BACK

where cooks were busy preparing food for breakfast this morning.

The District militia have the honor of having been longest on the border of all volunteer troops. They were the first to answer the President's call and were among the last to leave their post. They left for their homeward trip February 24. Their first stop was at Baton Rouge. The next stop was at New Orleans, then Montgomery, Ala., then Augusta, Ga., and the last stop was at Richmond, Va.

Meet High-Living Cost.

At Florence, S. C., the troops got their first taste of the high cost of living. There they had the strange experience of paying three times as much for food as they thought that merchants were trying to pull a fine-dining game on them.

Upon their arrival here it was learned that Maj. J. F. Hodgson, in command of the section, was confined to his bed in his sleeper suffering from a severe cold. He was indisposed during the entire trip.

Among other officers who arrived last night were Maj. Charles R. Luce, senior medical officer; Capt. Edwin Fullam, Lieut. Col. Chamberlain, the regular medical officer who traveled with the troops; Chaplain A. L. Smith, and Lieut. C. B. Hamilton, commissary officer, who never failed to provide plenty to eat for the boys.

"Physically Fit."

Medical surgeons who examined the boys just before they entrained at San Antonio reported to Maj. Charles R. Luce that his regiment of District Guardsmen was the most "physically fit" of any which were returning from the border.

Several of the Guardsmen, anxious to spend the night in "home bunkers," slipped off the train as it passed through Potomac yards and boarded a street car for the city.

Though the majority of the troops were either sunburned or tanned, there was not a one who had any serious complaint.

This morning will be spent in unpacking baggage and supplies. By noon, the officers said, they expected to be finished with this task. The men will then be excused to do as they like.

Last night many of the boys who were anxious to notify relatives and friends of their safe arrival scribbled phone numbers on slips of paper and gave them to the trainmen and others who passed their windows to deliver.

CHARGE STOCK CO. HEAD WITH $1,000,000 FRAUD

Albert Hupp, president of the Hupp Automatic Mail Exchange Company, yesterday was arrested by Detective Hagan and Pratt of the District Attorney's Office. The arrest was staged in the palatial offices of the concern in the Woodward Building.

Hupp was taken into custody on a warrant charging using the mails to defraud. Assistant United States Attorney Given stated that a warrant was issued also for Hupp's brother, Irving Hupp, another official of the concern, who is in Chicago. Albert Hupp was held in $10,000 bond.

Big Fire Force Kept Busy To Fight Burning Lizzie

She coughed and she spluttered, she flattered and flattered, she swallowed her spark, and exploded in flames. Fire engines came tearing, the fire fighters swearing, and calling the Ford owner all sorts of names. "Two was all right on street, the home of the elite, and the car was owned by one John D. McLean. And no one was injured, but I will be grieved if that car will ever again look the same."

Not only that, but McLean, who lives at 1313 Twenty-eighth street northwest, says repairs necessary as a result of the fire, caused by gasoline ignition, will cost him $50.

PACIFISTS MOBILIZING TO BLOCK WAR MOVES

President Wilson yesterday informed the gathering forces of pacifists, now mobilized here to protest against war, all in his power to keep the country at peace.

Leading pacifists of the nation, headed by William Jennings Bryan and Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, prepared for a united assault at both the Capitol and the White House against the President's armed neutrality authority request. Their batteries will be trained against any action by Congress on the President's proposal, right up to the minute of adjournment.

"I have done, am now doing, and will continue to do everything in my power to keep the United States at peace," the President told the group of pacifists who they told the President, "should be allowed to involve the United States in the holocaust." Miss Addams headed the delegation, which included also Miss Emily Greene Balch, professor of economics, University of Chicago; Joseph Cannon, representing mine workers and labor organizations of the West; Dr. Frederick Lynch, executive secretary of the Church Peace Union, and William I. Hull, representing the recent peace conference held in New York City.

Soon after his arrival here Mr. Bryan held hurried conferences with peace advocates and mapped out plans for the pacifist drive before Congress. Among those who saw the former premier at his hotel were Louis L. Lochner, who is associated with the peace campaign launched by Henry Ford. Mr. Bryan today will confer with his friends in the Senate and House and lay the ground work for bitter opposition to the President's proposal.

"The President feels it is his duty as Chief Executive to uphold the laws as they are, but it is the duty of Congress to make laws," Mr. Bryan said. "And I believe that Congress can at this time go far toward removing the danger of war by legislation which can be stated in a very few words."

COPPER AT HIGHEST LEVEL SINCE 1872

War Has Meant Such Use of Metal as Had Never Before Been Dreamed of.

Special to The Washington Herald. New York, Feb. 28.—The price for copper metal soared this week to the highest level reached since the days of the famous copper famine in 1872. With the price for the red metal advancing as rapidly as it has in recent months, the copper world is now asking: "When is the limit to be reached?"

Overhauling all other aspects of the case is the big question as to the effect on the metal which may be expected with termination of the struggle in which the great nations of Europe are now arrayed against each other. This titanic combat has meant consumption of copper at a rate undreamed of by even the most optimistic authorities at the beginning of the war. With virtually every pound of ammunition hurled in the battles raging on many fronts there has been destroyed a certain percentage of the priceless red metal.

Developments, new construction, have been proceeding at all the great mines of America at a pace never attempted before to keep up with the demand. Mines which it was not profitable to work on authorities on copper operations who believe the war have been given a new lease of life in various parts of the two continents of the Western hemisphere. Spain's big mines have been pouring out their product at record-breaking speed. Russia, with many of her mine workers withdrawn from their usual occupations to engage in operations at the front, has nevertheless been doing her utmost to contribute her share, as also has Japan, and various other nations of the belligerents which have large copper deposits in their territories.

Will this great demand for the metal be lessened with the ending of the war? There are many of the best known authorities on copper operations who believe that it will not—who expect, in fact, that the demand will be greater than ever, so great will be the need of the war-racked continent of Europe for copper for reconstruction purposes.

CONGRESS SLOW TO ACT

beginning of the European war, and reiterated Germany's determination to win. It was stated that the President was confident that Congress would ultimately give him the powers he requested, and that either on his own authority or that to be conferred, he would proceed to start American commerce for the war zone. He will then wait for Germany to take the step that will force an actual clash between the two countries.

All preliminary plans for placing guns and gunners aboard merchant vessels have been completed by the Navy Department. Arrangements are now under way for securing all of the necessary qualified gunners that will be needed to mount two or more guns on each of American vessels plying through the war zone.

The official admission from Germany that American consular officials were being detained aroused considerable resentment. A note sent through Dr. Paul Ritter, the Swiss Minister, set forth that they were held until Germany can receive official assurance that all German consular officials have been granted safe conduct, either to Germany or to new posts to which they have been assigned.

The note followed a communication in which Germany had inquired as to Consul General, detained in Havana, by transportation difficulties, and his way from this country to Ecuador. State Department officials last night declined to comment on the communication in any way, but it was understood that a demand for the release of the five American officials was being made by the Navy Department. The five men had been transferred from closed German consulates to posts in the Near East, and Germany had been asked to assure their safe conduct to their new posts.

They are Harold G. Waters, Vice Consul at Berlin, transferred to Constantinople; H. C. A. Damm, Aix La Chapelle, assigned to Harput, Turkey; John Q. Wood, Chemnitz, assigned to Messina, and clerks C. Innis Brown, Mannheim, and W. B. Wallace, Magdeburg, assigned to Constantinople.

All arrangements were completed yesterday for turning over American affairs in Austria to Spanish diplomatic and consular officials, in relations with the Austrian government, are broken down. It was accepted in administration circles that a break could not long be avoided and the Austrian reply to the latest communication of Ambassador Penfield, demanding a clear statement of the Austrian submarine policy, was expected soon. This reply, it was felt certain, will make a break inevitable, and all arrangements to meet it have been made.

A note transmitted through Ambassador Penfield yesterday from Vienna declared that the American sailing ship Lyman M. Law, destroyed in the Mediterranean, had not been sunk by an Austrian submarine. The Austrian foreign minister yesterday declared that complete reports from all Austrian submarine commanders had shown that none of them attacked the American vessel.
